Interviewer Notes

- For each of the activities listed, put a cross in the part of the month that the activity began and finished, and then connect the crosses with a straight line. For activities that began before July 2000, put a cross in the very first box (July 2000). If an activity is going to continue after the interview date put a cross in last box prior to the interview date.
- Only record data for the period up to, but not including, the month in which the interview takes place.
- The months across the top are divided into three sections; (1) early in the month; (2) middle of the month; and (3) late in the month.
- Number each job, and for each job, circle the appropriate code to indicate whether it was full-time (FT) (ie 35+ hrs/week) or part-time (PT) (ie <35 hrs/week). When entering any job check for any changes in hours during the period, and if they did switch from FT to PT or visa-versa, have two lines for that job number – one covering FT, the other PT.
- Holidays should not be treated as breaks in their usual activity (that is, work and study).
- Job spells can be overlapping. Similarly, enrolled in school / education can overlap with all other activities.
- Educational course or study refers to school or courses that lead to a qualification.
- If a respondent is an apprentice and is unsure if they are studying as well as working, code as both.
